Workplace Impact of Recent Legislation and Court Decisions Thursday, October 2, 2008

Presenter:

Gladys L. Yates, Esq.

The Bush Court is beginning to put its stamp on the workplace, and recent legislation may mean you need to revise your practices and policies. Attorney Gladys Yates has screened recent court decisions and legislation, and will tell you how they significantly impact the way employers manage their businesses.

What you will learn:

- Implications of proposed amendments to the Americans with Disabilities Act
- Effects of the National Defense Authorization Act on Family and Medical Leave
- New ammunition the Supreme Court provided to employees in retaliation cases

Ms. Yates focuses her practice on employment issues. She also handles other legal issues facing localities and other public entities. She is a former assistant city attorney for Roanoke and Lynchburg.
